Enrolment produces

You cannot take part in our courses before you have been enrolled in them.

Enrolment keys: You now either need to use the “enrolment key” that you may have received in the email where this guide was attached.

The screenshot shows the FEE Academy dashboard. On the left is a navigation menu with options: Home, Dashboard, Calendar, Private files, and Site administration. The main header features the FEE Academy logo and the text 'FOUNDATION FOR ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION'. Below the header is a banner for 'FEE ACADEMY' with a green arrow pointing to the 'Course categories' section. The 'Course categories' section is highlighted with a green box and contains a list of categories: FEE General, Blue Flag, Eco-Schools, Green Key, Learning About Forests, Young Reporters for Environment, FEE EcoCampus, and All courses ... Below this is a 'Site announcements' section with a 'Subscribe to this forum' link and an 'Add a new topic' button. At the bottom, there is a notice: 'FEE Academy Site Under Development' by Armin Heer, Tuesday, 5. May 2020, 9:21 AM.

When signed in you should see a page similar to this. Click the course category i.e. programme relevant to you. If you do not see the programme you are involved with click “All courses” and find it there. For example if you are involved with the Young Reporters for the Environment programme you will click and come to this page with a list and short description of all the current courses offered by this programme.

The screenshot shows the 'Course categories' dropdown menu set to 'Young Reporters for Environment'. Below the search bar, there are two course listings. The first is 'Photography for Photojournalism', which includes a photo of a person taking a picture and a description: 'In this course, learners will have the opportunity to explore the use of photography for photojournalism as part of the Young Reporters for the Environment (YRE) programme. Learners will practice their photography skills, develop an understanding of different types of photojournalism and learn how to participate in the annual YRE competition and become Young Journalists for the Environment!'. The second listing is 'Implementing Young Reporters for the Environment as a National Operator', which includes a photo of a person at a camera and a description: 'This course will give you all the necessary information and tools to run the Young Reporters for the Environment programme effectively on a national level and as part of a global network. It is a requirement for all new YRE National Operators to complete this course and it is also highly recommended for current National Operators'. A green arrow points to a small key icon next to the first course title.

The small key means that this course can be accessed with an enrolment key.

Enrolment key

You should have received this enrolment key from:

If you have received an enrolment key, type it in the box connected to "Enrolment key". Please do not share the enrolment key with anyone. You should now have access to the course.

No enrolment key: If you have not received an enrolment key when you were invited to join FEE Academy you need to send an email to the FEE teacher who invited you and ask to be enrolled in the course(s) relevant to you.

Introduction to FEE Academy

Structure:

FEE Academy uses (Moodle Modular Object-Oriented Dynamic Learning Environment) as a platform. Moodle is a Learning Management System used by schools and universities.

Each course on FEE Academy is structured by a number of modules that each has different resources like small digital books, links, videos etc. along with assessment activities to test the learner's understanding. Assessment activities can be quizzes or forums where you're asked to upload something and/or comment on other learner's work, assignments where you are asked to hand in a "paper" or surveys where we ask you for your perspective.

You can complete courses on your own time – you decide when it suits you. However we recommend doing it module by module to get a comprehensive understanding of the theme in question. (Note: some courses are set for certain times, to allow for participants to collaborate and/or comment on each others work).

Completing activities:

After reading or watching the video please remember to tick off the box next to the resource on the course page. This way you can remember where you left off when you come back to the course and we can see what activities you've completed.

If the box next to the activity has dotted lines Moodle will automatically tick the box after you've completed it. This is mostly the case for quizzes and forums.

Badges and certificates:

In most courses you will receive badges when you've completed one or two modules. Badges are only used/relevant on the FEE Academy, but can be a fun way to see the progress you've made and the skills you've acquired. Badges will appear on you profile page and look like this:

Once you have completed the entire course you will receive a certificate that can be downloaded as a PDF and used outside of the platform.
